Job Application for .NET Software Engineer

Dear Mr./Ms./Dr

About Me

Since 2012, I have been working exclusively as a software developer. Throughout my career, i have worked mainly for C# .NET applications, ranging from desktop and server applications to web applications in which i have been involved in all stages of the development process (design, development and delivery). I have worked within small to medium sized teams or as a freelancer and I have always enjoyed interaction with individuals from different and multidisciplinary backgrounds. Also, I am accustomed working towards tight deadlines and under high pressure, as I have been involved in large IT projects. To date, I have worked on a project dealing with automation the daily work of food industries around the world. My role is full stack developer writing for both backend and frontend applications.

Why Stoiximan

I believe that working for the Stoiximan will be a good opportunity for me to deepen my knowledge in .net technologies with respect to clients data and company's policies, but also I believe that I can contribute in the development of software applications through my experience thus far.

Why Me?

All in all, I believe that my qualifications fit well with the profile of the Stoiximan and that my experience and the combination of my skills meet the requirements of the advertised position. I hope that you will evaluate my CV positively and I will be most grateful for further communication.
